

Hyunjoo A. Kim is a communication designer, interdisciplinary researcher, and educator (Purdue University, USA). Kim's research and teaching interests are Visual System Design, Typography, Branding, Information Design, Experience design, Environmental Design, Design Thinking, and Social Design. Kim has been interested in the role of design and visual communication to positively shape human perception and experience. Kim's work has been presented internationally in numerous exhibitions and publications. Kim also has been served on diverse advisory, steering and organizing committees for international events and public organizations, and has been curating and art directing international events and exhibitions.

Portfolio link

<http://www.hyunjookimdesignlab.com/work.html>